

Heavens Cross Express

A detailed illustration of a steam locomotive, the 'Heavens Cross Express', flying through a dramatic, stormy sky. The locomotive is dark with a prominent red headlight and a bell. It is pulling several freight cars. The sky is filled with dark, swirling clouds, bright blue lightning bolts, and a large, glowing orange and red fireball or explosion in the background. A large, dark, cratered moon is visible in the upper left corner. The overall atmosphere is one of intense power and mystery.

Energy is communications.
Nothing more, nothing less.

Energy is communications, not particles, or a force, or power. It is what your consciousness created in the desire to know itself. Energy is in a neutral state until ignited by the desire of consciousness to have an experience. This sets energy in motion, and its dynamic and design are always going to be in exact accordance with how consciousness perceives itself. Energy is a constant communication that consciousness has about its own nature and state.

If you have issues in your life, it's because you're still gaining something from them.

Whatever is in your life experience is there because you are still getting something from it. Even the undesired things are there because they are still serving you in some way. You are the creator. Ask yourself what you're gaining from the issue and if you are ready to move on, release it from your life and allow it to be distilled into wisdom.

18

Only your soul can heal your wounds and only when you're ready.

Throughout life you may run from your wounds, react to them, obsess over them, counsel them, process them, and try to heal them in countless ways. True healing can only be found by releasing the wounds to your soul and receiving its forgiveness. The soul has infinite patience and will wait until you are done with the issues and ready to let them go. Then it will welcome, heal, and transform everything into pure wisdom.
